5-STEP SHOGUN METHOD BOYFRIEND DESTROYER STRATEGY

The Shogun's Code

- Is she truly happy with her boyfriend?
- Is her boyfriend a close friend?
- Is her boyfriend a Shogun?

If one or more of these conditions apply, withdraw immediately.

Step #1: Analyze the Situation

1. Is she putting on a facade of a happy relationship and yet she's dissatisfied with what she's getting?

2. Is there evidence he is mistreating her, or taking her for granted?
3. Is she stuck in a bad relationship and desperate to find a way out?

Step #2: Handle Her Shit Test

Does she test you with the “I have a boyfriend” line?

Avoid—

1. Apologizing,
2. Pulling back,
3. Explaining or trying to convince her you're unfazed.

Instead, simply say, “Right.” And then continue as if she didn't say anything.

Step #3: Understand the Grand Strategy

The grand strategy is to help her escape a bad relationship. You're offering her a better deal, superior to her boyfriend who is ill-treating her.

To a decent female, sex is not just a physical thing. Intimacy must come with emotional attachment.

Emotional investment is what you want from the fling.

Once you tie her up emotionally, use Shogun Method to make her yours for good.

Step #4: Engineer Plausible Deniability

Cheating carries social stigma that must be overcome if you want her to sleep with you. To agree to cheat, she needs Plausible Deniability. If she gets found out, she must get to say,

“It just happened. It's not my fault.”

How do you engineer Plausible Deniability? By crafting a four-part story:

One. Her boyfriend mistreats her. He could even be cheating on her.

Two. She feels lonely and lost.

Three. You appear in her life. You give her the comfort and company she hungered for.

Four. You seduce her. During a moment of vulnerability, she gives in.

Give her a story she can tell the world that absolves her from blame.

Step #5: Apply the Boyfriend Destroyer: the Yin Yang

In Shogun Method, we have this strategy we call the Yin Yang.

In Chinese philosophy, the Yin and Yang are like opposites that depend on each other. Think of a coin... it's got two different sides, but you can't have one without the other. It's like how you can't have light without dark.

Now, this whole Yin and Yang thing, it's a big deal in Shogun Method. It's all about how Shoguns connect with women, by taking their emotions on a wild ride. First, you flip them emotions upside down and then flip them right back up. In Shogun Method lingo, we call this rollercoaster move Fractionation.

You can find out more about Fractionation later (it's in Shogun Method's quick start module). For now, let's see how we can apply Yin Yang in boyfriend destroying.

In your woman's mind, she's got this picture of her boyfriend. We'll call that picture the Yin. Now, what you're aiming for is to be the Yang in her mind. You don't simply want to be different from her guy; you want to be the better option as a partner.

How do you do this? In three steps:

1. Value Elicitation
2. Yin Reinforcement
3. Yang Reinforcement

Step one is Value Elicitation. You're gonna ask her what she wants in a boyfriend or hubby, using this exact question:

“What’s important to you in a man?”

This phrase, word for word, is gold. Believe me because we've tested it a ton at ShogunMethodHQ. It works like a charm but only if you say it exactly as it is.

Newbie Shoguns often mess this up by asking, “What do you like in a boyfriend?” Do you know why?

Well, here's the reason. Asking a girl what she likes in her boyfriend forces her to focus on his positive qualities. What you really want instead is to make her think about the qualities that he lacks.

Here's an example. Let's say she spills the beans and tells you,

“What's important to me in a man? Well... I want someone I can trust, a man who makes me feel safe and secure.”

Pay attention to what she says here—trust, safety and security. Now, you'll get to point out her boyfriend's weakness in these areas. Find ways to tell her (indirectly) that her boyfriend is not all that trustworthy or capable of keeping her safe.

Some call this gaslighting, but repeating a question will sow seeds of doubt in her head. For instance, you can ask her,

“Do you really think you can trust him? Really? Is he really that trustworthy? You think so? Seriously?”

Hammer the point home by repeatedly imply that he can't keep her safe and secure. This is his dark, Yin side you want to reinforce. This is why we call this stage Yin Reinforcement.

Now that you found the chink in his armor, hit it repeatedly. Find opportunities to slip in a line like this—

“I shouldn't be saying this... but I probably won't trust him with anything.”

Once you have planted enough doubt in her mind, move in with the kill with the Yang Reinforcement step. This is where you'll position yourself as her boyfriend's replacement.

In this step, you'll show you have the qualities she desires by implication. Saying you're trustworthy outright might make her wonder if you really are.

So, you imply your trustworthiness with lines like—

“A man has to be strong to keep his loved ones safe.”

“Trust is the number one thing in love. Without trust, everything crumbles.”

Got all that? Good.

To sum up the Yin Yang technique, remember these three key points.

1. Figure out what she’s looking for in an ideal boyfriend.
2. Point out how her boyfriend falls short of those ideal traits.
3. Imply you’ve got what she’s looking for.

So, now you have it... the Shogun Method way to making a woman dump her boyfriend for you.

But, here's the thing. As any true Shogun knows, winning over a woman is only the start. The real deal is to keep her loyal to you, which can be tricky if she has a history of being unfaithful. You want to make sure she won't be cheating on you, right?

The solution is Shogun Method. Start her on the four-step IRAE Model (Intrigue-Rapport-Attraction-Enslavement). Once she has reached the fourth stage—the emotional Enslavement stage—you will seal her loyalty to you for a lifetime.

Emotional Enslavement is the name of the game. Shogun Method shows you how it's done. You are ready. Click here and be a Shogun.
